(Greenville, SC) The Greenville Chamber recognized Arnett Muldrow & Associates, an Urban Planning firm, as its March 2011 Small Business of the Month.

About Arnett Muldrow & Associates

Arnett Muldrow & Associates was formed to make better communities. The firm specializes in downtown revitalization, economic development, community branding, and historic preservation. Partners Aaron Arnett and Tripp Muldrow formed a friendship in Clemson's Masters of City and Regional Planning program. They worked individually at various public and private planning agencies, ultimately forming the company that is now in its tenth year of operation.

While its client base is generally in the Southeast, Midwest, and New England, Arnett Muldrow has also worked for a number of Upstate communities including Greer, Simpsonville, Travelers Rest, Easley, Spartanburg, Pacolet, and Anderson. Arnett Muldrow has been fortunate to work in Greenville on several projects, most notably the West End Master Plan, as well as the recently completed Sterling Neighborhood Master Plan. The Sterling neighborhood is one of Greenville's most historically important places and the plan is designed to honor and respect that heritage while creating much needed improvements to the neighborhood. The company was also honored to work in five Mississippi Gulf Coast Communities to help their downtowns recover after Katrina. For this work, they were recognized by the Mississippi Main Street Program for Design Excellence.

Often working for volunteer-based organizations and boards, Arnett Muldrow realizes the importance of local involvement in the community. Aaron Arnett participated in Opportunity Greenville, and Tripp graduated Leadership Greenville Class 26 and went on to serve on the Board of Regents. Tripp currently sits on the City of Greenville Planning Commission, and formerly was a board member of Greenville Housing Authority and Historic Greenville Foundation. Aaron sat on the City's Design and Preservation commission for six years, serving as chairperson for four. Whenever possible, the partners act as volunteer stakeholders in planning process undertaken in the City, most recently the Comprehensive Plan and Stone Avenue Master Plan. In addition, Arnett Muldrow supports a number of local organizations including Upstate Forever, Greer's Partnership for Tomorrow, the Friends of Stone Avenue, and the Greenville Chamber.
